

```
comment = "Fun stuff...
```

*Notice that Yoda is not able to do this attack

Phishing Scams in Plain English - YouTube

Phishing Scams in Plain English - YouTube

Phishing Scams in Plain English

Watch later 81 videos 30 Subscribe

Like Add to... Share

292,701

Uploaded by Security in Plain English 2020

<http://www.inplainenglish.com> A short guide to recognizing and avoiding phishing scams.

This video focuses on all common 'man-in-the-middle' attacks that use the Show more

Security in Plain English

Subscribe

Comments and likes...

your reaction

GET /?videoId=527

<html . . .

Content Spooling

A red speech bubble with a white border and a pointed tail on the left side, containing the text "The page contains the attacker's ad." in white font.

The page contains the attacker's ad.

Content Spoofing

GET /?videoid=527

<html ...

comment = "Fun stuff ...

GET /?videoid=527

<html ...

The page contains the attacker's ad.

* Notice that Youtube is not vulnerable to this attack

Problem

- ➡ An attacker can inject HTML tags in the page
- ⦿ Add illegitimate content to the webpage
(ads most of the time)